Supplementary Material Figure S2

Principal component analysis (PCA) performed on agronomic traits measured at flowering or harvest: individual observation on the first two axes with the studied varieties represented. See Table 1 for variety name abbreviations. Two groups of observations seemed to be distinguished on axis 1 in the Essong variety.