

Data supplement 3

Summary of comments of respondents who indicated no desire to discuss faith- and culture-related issues with their patients

- I'm not interested
- No accurate information, so I would not volunteer a discussion. If someone asked I would try to find out accurate info for them
- It is the individual's responsibility, not mine
- I believe that it is up to individual patient to make such an enquiry. Belonging to a religion does not mean to what degree they follow it and how they interpret it and I have no experience in this area
- I think this is a pharmacy issue
- Send out a list. Too busy for a meeting. Happy to speak to service users but their mental health needs must take precedence
- Yes – in cases of mild degree mental illness (when stable)
- No – in cases of severe mental illness (acute relapse) and for short-term use only
