

Jack Herrmann, MEd, NCC, LMHC, Senior Advisor and Chief, Public Health Programs, National Association of County and City Health Officials (NACCHO)

Jack Herrmann is the Senior Advisor & Chief, Public Health Programs at the National Association of County and City Health Officials (NACCHO), an association representing the interests of the country's 2,800 local governmental public health departments. As the organization's chief liaison to local, state, and federal partner agencies, his portfolio includes public health preparedness, environmental health, infectious disease prevention and control, public health law, health and disability, and public health informatics. Jack is also the organization's subject matter expert on a variety of preparedness and response topics including, mass fatalities planning, medical countermeasure distribution and dispensing, bioterrorism preparedness, and disaster mental health.

Prior to joining NACCHO, Jack was Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Clinical Nursing, Director of the Program in Disaster Mental Health, and Director of Community and Consumer Affairs for the University of Rochester Medical Center, Department of Psychiatry. He has served in volunteer staff or leadership positions with the American Red Cross for the past twenty years responding to such disasters as the Northridge Earthquake, the explosion of TWA Flight 800, the terrorist events of September 11, 2001, and Hurricanes Katrina, Rita, and Sandy.

Jack earned a master's degree in education in counseling, family, and worklife studies from the University of Rochester, is certified by the National Board of Certified Counselors (NBCC) and is a licensed mental health counselor in the State of New York.