

Joshua C. Morganstein, MD, CDR, USPHS, Scientist, Center for the Study of Traumatic Stress, Assistant Professor, Department of Psychiatry, Uniformed Services University of the Health Sciences

Dr Joshua C. Morganstein graduated from the University of Maryland at College Park in 1995 after completing a pre-medical program, earning a Bachelor of Science in Psychology. He was commissioned as an Air Force Officer in April 1997 and subsequently attended the Uniformed Services University School of Medicine from 1997-2001 where he earned a Doctorate of Medicine. From 2001-2006, Dr Morganstein completed a combined Psychiatry and Family Medicine residency program in the National Capital Consortium (NCC).

After completing residency training in 2006, Dr Morganstein served as Chief, Medical Director, and Deputy Flight Commander for the Mental Health Flight at the 35th Medical Group on Misawa Air Base in Japan. In 2008, he was assigned as Chief of the Mental Health Clinic for the 79th Medical Wing on Joint Base Andrews in Maryland before deploying to Afghanistan in support of Operation Enduring Freedom in 2009. While in Afghanistan, Dr Morganstein served as the Chief of Combat Stress Control for the Sharana-Region and senior Air Force psychiatry consultant in theatre. Upon returning to the 79th Medical Wing in late 2009, he was selected as the Chief and Medical Director for the Air Force's level II.5 dual-diagnosis Addictions Treatment program. He was also appointed Chairman for the Department of Psychiatry as well as Medical Director and Operations Officer for the Mental Health Flight. In May 2011, Dr Morganstein was selected to serve as the sole Behavioral Health advisor the Commander, Joint Task Force National Capital Region-Medical in support of the Base Realignment and Closure which resulted in the transition to the Walter Reed National Military Medical Center, stand up of Fort Belvoir Community Hospital, and realignment of behavioral health, traumatic brain injury, and addictions treatment services for 460K beneficiaries in the National Capital Region.

During his career, Dr Morganstein has served in a variety of additional duties in support of DoD missions including: Department of Defense Psychiatry Consultant to the Office of the General Counsel for Guantanamo Bay Detainee Litigation; Senior Medical Officer, Fort Hood Task Force Team 4 evaluating safety programs, policies and procedures throughout DoD; Air Force District Washington MAJCOM liaison for the Air Force Fort Hood Follow-On Review; Psychiatry Consultant to the Secretary of the Air Force Personnel Council; NCC Psychiatry Residency and USUHS Student Clerkship Site Directors for the 79th Medical Wing.

Dr Morganstein transferred from the Air Force to the Public Health Service in July 2013, receiving a commission at the rank of Commander. He currently serves as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Psychiatry at the Uniformed Services University and Scientist at the Center for the Study of Traumatic Stress.

His awards include: Defense Meritorious Service Medal, Meritorious Service Medal with 2 oak leaf cluster, Air Force Commendation Medal with 1 oak leaf cluster, Meritorious Unit Award, Air Force Outstanding Unit Award with 2 oak leaf clusters, National Defense Service Medal, Afghanistan Campaign Medal, Global War on Terrorism Service Medal, Air Force Expeditionary Service Ribbon with Gold Border, Air Force Longevity Service, Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Ribbon, and the NATO Medal.