

Photo not available

Terry Sapp, EMT, CHEP, Emergency Preparedness Coordinator, Operations Bureau, Baltimore County Health & Human Services

Terry Sapp has served as the Emergency Coordinator for Baltimore County Health & Human Services since 2008 where he coordinates all planning, emergency logistics and response efforts relating to Emergency Support Function (ESF-6) Mass Care and ESF-8 Health & Medical Planning. Mr. Sapp is a Certified Healthcare Emergency Professional (CHEP) and has previously served as the Maryland State Cities Readiness Initiative (CRI) Coordinator and the State of New Mexico Bioterrorism Training Coordinator. He was a part of the design and instructor team for the New Mexico All-Hazards Response Training, the principle designer of the Maryland CRI Training Toolkit, and designer and producer of the Baltimore County POD Training videos. He has been an Emergency Medical Technician for 18 years with Baltimore County's Volunteer Fire Service and holds certifications in Firefighting, Technical Rescue, Hazardous Materials and Confined Space Rescue. Mr. Sapp has served on a Disaster Medical Assistance Team (DMAT) since 2006 as a Communications Specialist and a Health Technician, and served as a member of the National Medical Response Team (NMRT) Decontamination Unit for numerous national special events. He is a frequent lecturer and presenter, including the National Preparedness Summit, Maryland Association of County Officials, Centers for Disease Control & Prevention, Towson University and others.